WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHER OF THE YEAR

GE Photography

Based in Dumfries, GE Photography specialise in a vast range of photography services, from family portraits and weddings, to commercial projects and events. Company founder and dedicated photographer Graham Edwards has been serving Scotland and beyond for almost seven years. After originally setting up office at home, GE Photography's success has continued to grow, and Graham is on the cusp of opening a brand-new studio and office in south west Scotland. The large, state-of-the-art premises will feature four photography bays, a hair and make-up area, and a viewing office, enabling GE Photography to hire out space to other freelance creatives too.

The judges were particularly impressed by Graham's wedding services, which have been a mainstay of his business. GE Photography's popular wedding shoots are brimming with creativity and visual flair, showcasing Graham's bespoke approach. He gets to know his clients well, meeting them at least six weeks before the wedding for a relaxed, informal chat to build rapport. This enables Graham to understand the couple's personalities, and plan how he will get the most memorable shots on the day. During lockdown, where wedding parties were limited to five guests, Graham acted as a witness and created a virtual set up, enabling more than 200 friends and family members to watch his client's ceremony.
